

Resources for End-of-Life Planning

Workshop offered by On the Record Advance Planning

As Wendy R. Uhlmann wrote in The Ultimate Homework Assignment, "We are often unprepared for the physical and logistical consequences of dying, but it doesn't have to be that way." She claims that "we could make this a better experience for everyone."

Uhlmann tells us just how to do that. "As adults we have the ultimate homework assignment, one that we must complete before an unwavering deadline (emphasis on "dead"). Our assignment is to talk openly about death and put together a folder with our wishes."

Join us to learn what should go in your folder. Take a short self-quiz to see where you stand with respect to being prepared for end-of-life. Get useful tips about preparing in these areas of your life:

- Legal & Medical
- Financial
- Practical—The Body
- Practical—The Stuff
- Emotional and Spiritual

Take home resources and begin to put together your folder.

"This information is a gift you can give to the people who will have to grieve and cope with loss."

About Amy Praskac and On the Record Advance Planning

Amy Praskac was widowed unexpectedly in 2003 and served as her late husband's executor. This experience brought home the importance of having one's affairs in order and served as the inspiration for her company On the Record Advance Planning.

On the Record Advance Planning is here to bring order out of chaos regarding end-of-life and encourages families and businesses to communicate in advance of need with the dream to prevent conflict among heirs in order to contribute greater peace in the world. End-of-life may refer to an individual or a business.

On the Record Advance Planning works side-by-side with personal clients to complete their family's critical information notebook. On the Record Advance Planning also offers seminars and in-home tutorials for those who want to learn how to compile their family's critical information themselves. Organizing notebooks are available online. On the Record Advance Planning works in consultation with business clients to compile their policies and procedures manuals.

Call Amy Praskac at 512-371-3624 or see www.OnTheRecordOrganizing.com for more information.

On the Record Advance Planning—Creating a roadmap for your family